Corporate Sponsors

The American Society of Mining and Reclamation is proud of its accomplishments over the past three decades. We believe we have made a valuable contribution to improvements in land reclamation technology nationally and internationally. However, the Society seeks to initiate new programs that benefit its members and expand opportunities for information exchange with those concerned with land reclamation worldwide.

One new program being considered is the Development Fund. Proceeds from annual dues are not adequate for significant expansion of our programs. We appreciate the role and contributions that corporate entities have made to assist us in this endeavor by becoming Corporate Sponsors of the American Society of Mining and Reclamation. If you or your company is interested in becoming a corporate sponsor, contact the Executive Secretary asmr@insightbb.com

Visit the five levels of sponsorship (Copper, Bronze, Silver, Gold, and Platinum) for current and past corporations who have contributed in this important way to the Society. The benefits for each level of Corporate Sponsorship are listed under Program.
